

CrystalConnect by Crystal Cable

Originally known as Crystal Cable, the Netherlands-based company makes high performance silver/gold stranded and monocrystal cables, a small but highly prized range of loudspeakers and an unique integrated amplifier that owes much to one of the best high-end amplifier systems ever (and one hell of a tongue-twister); the striking SAGA system of Crystal's sister Siltech.

The brand's products are all underpinned by a combination of good materials science and engineering-led product development, all of which is backed up by extensive listening tests and plenty of feedback from the Crystal 'family'; distributors, dealers, and end-users alike. The company has championed good cable in personal audio. The personal audio connection is especially innovative because so few 'traditional' high-end companies take personal audio seriously; their loss, Crystal's gain.
